Testimonials

It was a fascinating experience to start with an idea, share it with you, and then see that idea emerge on the canvas as a beautiful painting. The result is a work of art that captures one of our most treasured memories in a unique and wonderful way.

Steve & Emilia

Thank you so much again for creating such a show piece for our favourite room in our house. Honestly the photo doesn't do it justice. You must one day come over and see it in person in its space! Thank you again for everything! Take care and stay in touch!

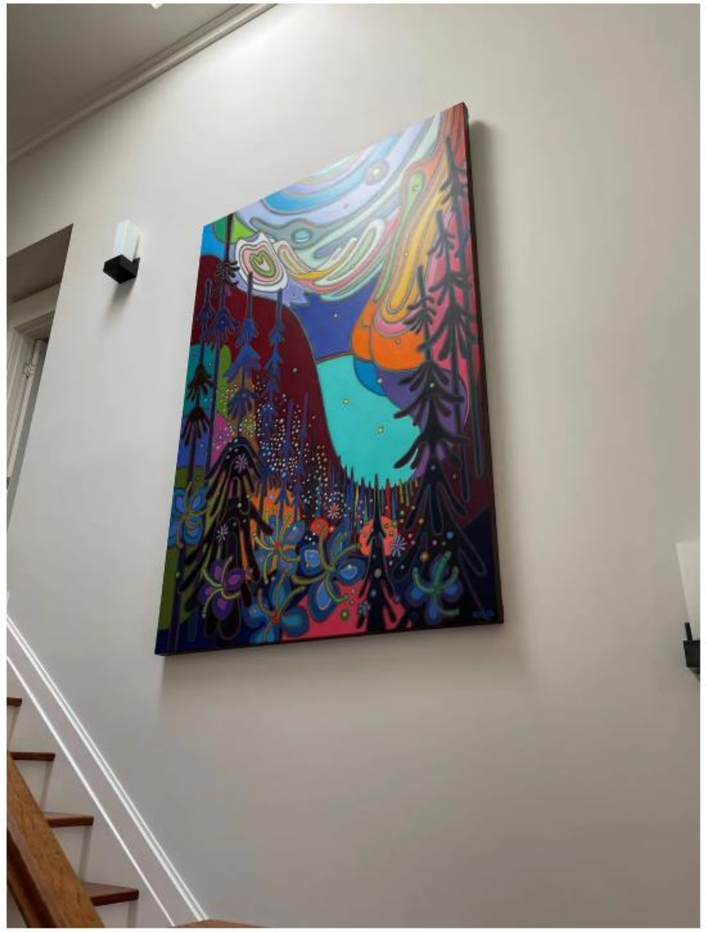
Testimonials



I first saw Darlene's art at the Kingsway Art Show. I fell in love with one of the pieces but it wasn't quite the right time for me to purchase it. Years later, I reached out to Darlene and, of course, the piece I loved was long gone. However, Darlene let me know that she could make something similar with design ideas customized for me.

The process was simple. Darlene came to my home to help me select the right size and location for my commission. We discussed my preferred colours and the design elements that I had loved about her other pieces. After settling on the size and general design, Darlene got to work creating various versions by sketch. I was able to select the one that appealed to me most. Then, I was able to watch the entire process unfold on Facebook. Hanging the masterpiece was the best part. The artwork brings me such joy. Everyone who enters my home admires the art as well. And here is the result....

Do you have a preferred medium to paint in and on?
Definitely acrylics as they are fast and forgiving. I have traditionally painted on canvas and recently discovered painting on wood panel. Wood panel is a whole different kind of wonderful!

Your works are so vibrant and colourful. Do you have a favourite colour on your palette, and why?
This is like asking if I have a favourite child…so I guess I will stick with the 3 primaries: Cyan, Magenta, and Yellow, as everything is possible when you begin with these! (Do not tell Cyan and Magenta, but my favourite colour is Yellow).

Five of your works have been reimagined and published in jigsaw puzzle form. Do you ever paint thinking that a particular work would make a great puzzle?
I have begun to ponder the puzzle possibility as I paint my paintings. My instinct is all about colour and shape first, and line had been secondary. I can see how line plays as important a role in creating a good painting and a great puzzle. Most importantly, it is still all about a painting that I have to make because it tells a story that is personal and relatable. Art lovers and puzzlers can see and feel that.

What is your favourite hobby outside of painting?
Laughing…and connecting with people.

What does a typical working day look like for you?
My husband says it starts with him bringing me coffee in bed. We have started volunteering with Meals on Wheels (they are really short on drivers and runners right now) so that slots nicely, 2 days a week, around my studio practice. I like to exercise first thing in the morning - Zoom Bootcamp with Peter Pereira Wellnessor Yoga With Hope. I design, draw, and paint in the mornings. In the afternoon, I attend to administrative tasks or wiring and crating paintings for shipping. I enjoy the break that cooking gives me too. It is not unusual for me to go into my studio again after dinner to paint a bit…a walk is a good thing and poking around in the garden too.

Where in Canada would you like to paint that you haven't already?
Tofino, Nunavut, Nova Scotia, Canadian Arctic.

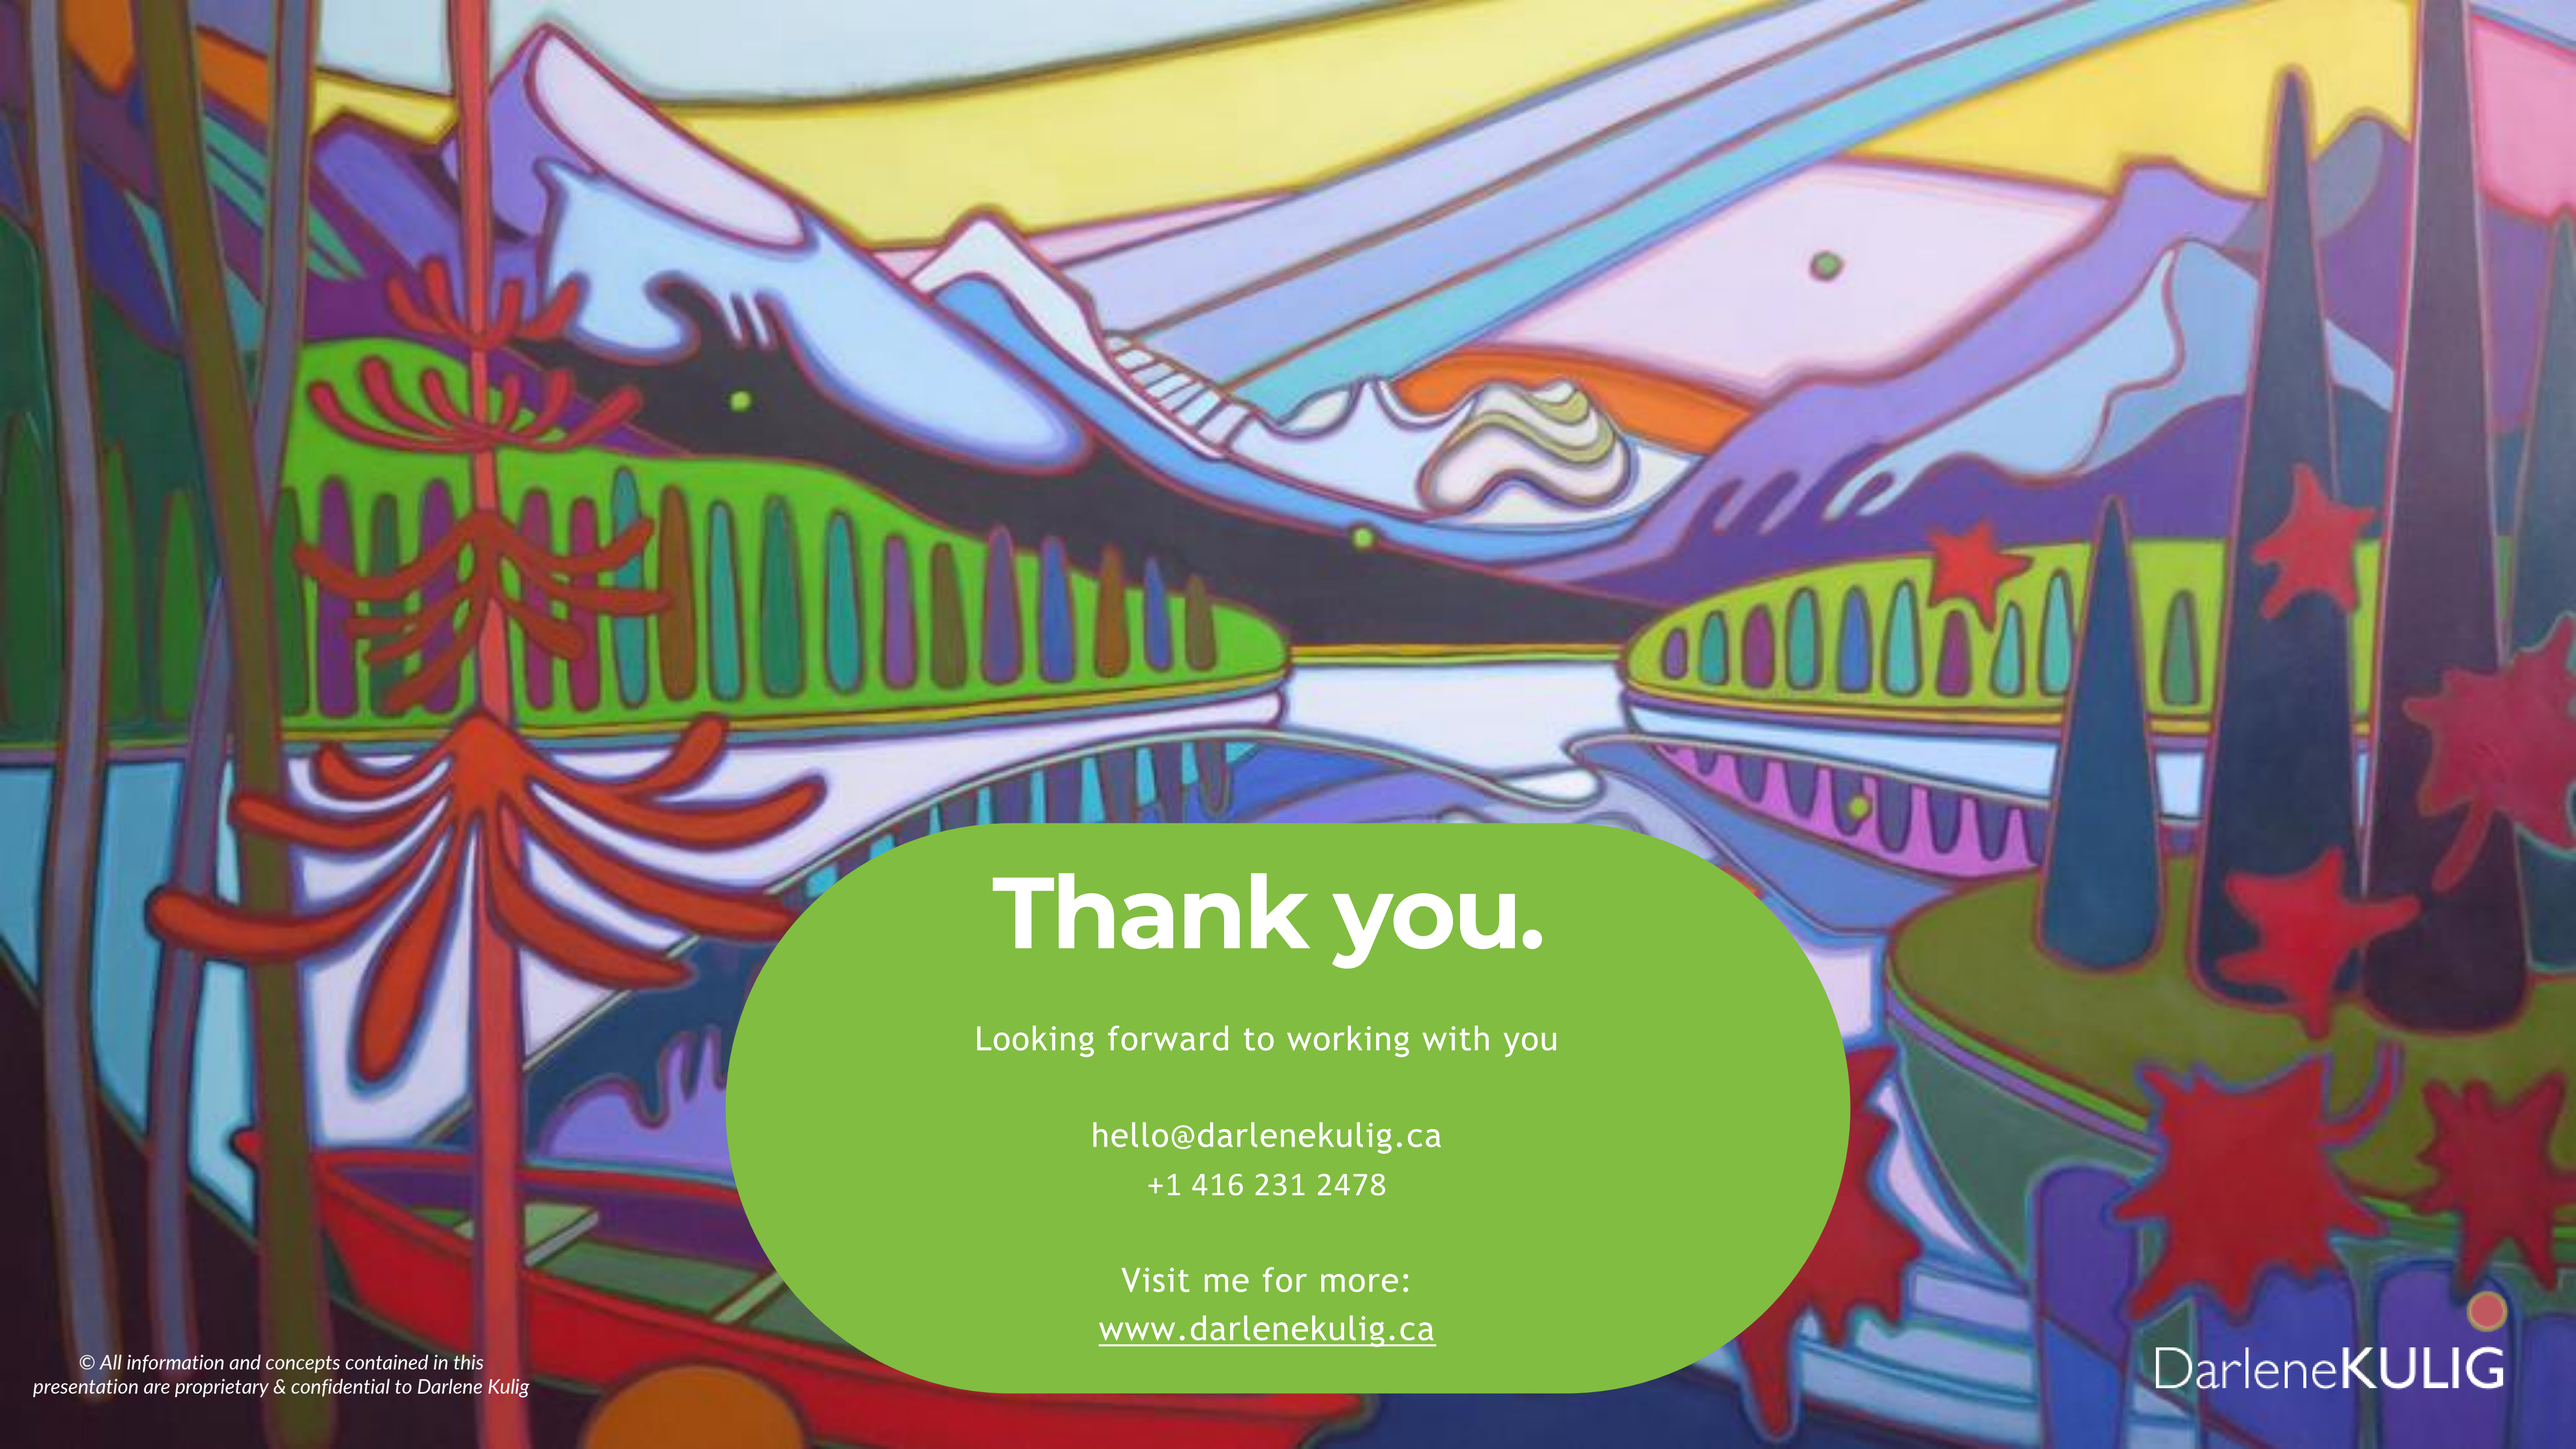
Tell us about your face masks and how they came to be?
Early in COVID, Sperry Bilyea of Bring Your Own Mask (BYOM) was connected to me through social media and she invited me to collaborate on a mask project. When she said it was for charity, I was all in. All proceeds from the sale of our face masks support The Craig Kulig Memorial Fund in memory of my nephew, Craig Kulig, who passed from cancer in 2016.

What is your favourite season to paint?
Winter...it is a magical escape! Winter in Moonlight is otherworldly.

What is your favourite Canadian band?
Tuesday Heartbreak. Check them out on Spotify, Apple Music or Soundcloud.

Who is your favourite Canadian Artist?
I have an eerily strong connection to Emily Carr...one among so many great Canadian artists.

You can see what Darlene is up to on a day-to-day basis on Instagram @darlenekulig and Facebook @kuligart.



Thank you.

Looking forward to working with you
